MAKING SPECULATION "SAFE"

SOME cynic the other day, referring to the present effort in con- in the latter lives of the children.

But too often, the children from t gress to put through a drastic bill for regulating the stock markets of the country, made the remark that the government was now seeking to make "speculation safe for democracy."

Some control of our markets where securities as well as commodities are bought and sold, is of course necessary and desirable. There should be the fullest publicity required about atl securities which are offered for sale, and concerning the companies who are offering the securities. Neither should speculation on thin margins be encouraged. Just how much of this regulation the government should have a hand in, and how much ought to be left to the good judgment of the stock exchanges themselves is of course a matter for honest difference of opinion.

But aside from this, the cynical remark quoted above will bear some thinking about. It will never be possible for this government or any other government to make "speculation safe for democracy." So long as there are suckers who like to buy things because they look cheap, who think they can get something for nothing, or acquire riches by taking long changes, there is going to be unwise speculation.

And even the cleverest of those who deal in high finance get caught once in awhile, which makes speculation all the more a dangerous game for the novice.

The government cannot protect the plunger and the sucker against the results of their own folly, much as it may desire to do so. Something must be left to individual effort, despite all socialist theory to the contrary. The government cannot make a man a good financier, or a shrewd speculator, if nature has made him a reckless fool, any more than the government can make the lazy man prosperous, or a profligate on successful.

Too many people in the United States seem now relying on the government to pull them out of a hole which they dug for themselves. This it is impossible for the government to do, no matter what administration is in power. This paternalistic idea of government is not of American origin. It was not employed by the men who converted this continent from a wilderness into the greatest of modern nations. If the sturdy pioneers had waited for the government to protect them in their pioneer efforts and to do their trail blazing for them, the United States, if it existed at all, would still comprise a fringe of settlements along the Atlantic coast. The paternalistic theory has come to us late- of supplies to one of the forts tak-

If any man thinks that the government can frame a law which will enable the Federal Trade Commission or any other commission to make him a successful trader, he is in for a rude boxes of explosives and preserved awakening. Only brains and long vision can do this, backed by led to the Fort de Vaux. Military explenty of money and still more luck.

Even the Brain Trust has not yet found a formula for changing the lamb into a wolf. And we doubt if it ever will.

AROMATIC GRAPEFRUIT

When the American Chemical Society stages its annual get-together, prepare for fantastic predictions. Its meeting last week in St. Petersburg, Fla., was no exception.

First was gold. In a decade the seas will be turned into a cornucopia of the treasure and the resultant overproduction of the metal will make this now rather expensive product than cement for use in the building of roads.

Just as intriguing was grapefruit. Grapefruit skins, it was predicted by a delegate from the North who had just indulged in his first glimpse of a grapefruit grove, will be turned into rare perfumes. Has the sight of a prune grove in California ever had a similar effect on a wanderer from other parts?

The new perfumes will not smell like grapefruit, according to E. K. Nelson, of the United States bureau of chemistry and soils, Washington the predicter. Instead the odors will be those of violets, roses, hyacinths and possibly orange blossoms.

However, "will you have some grapefruit?" has not yet become obsolete as a gustatory question.

STAGGERING NUMBER OF CANDIDATES

Even with the last-minute withdrawals from several contests, there remain well over 3,000 candidates for the state primary election on May 15-far and away the greatest number ever known by Pennsylvania for any primary.

It is a staggering figures, any way one cares to view it. There must still be a depression in our midst if so many persons are seeking office. And the amazing list of candidates brings to full realization the good that might have been done by certain election bills that were proposed but not enacted during the last session.

For instance, there was the measure proposed by Senator Salus, passed in the senate but quietly killed in the house elections committee. It would have required the posting of a bond from each candidate, with the amount ranging from $5 up to $1,000, for each party nomination term of service expired at the end of the week.

This bill would have accomplished the weeding-out process.

BORED AUDIENCES

American audiences, whether at theatres or elsewhere, are probably the most polite in the world. What they stand for, according to an actor who has been everywhere, is remarkable.

In Italy, when patrons are bored, they read newspapers or books till the next act comes on. In South American countries they walk out very demonstratively, in groups, so that actors can't help getting the idea. In England they razz stage people mercilessly. In Australia the you are blind you cannot read the audience counts them out like a referee at a prize fight, shouting in paper.

which "One two three" and so on and when it reaches "ten" they Blind Man: I know, but I can unison "One-two-three" and so on, and when it reaches "ten" they have to go. Sometimes, too, Australians throw ducks.

In this spineless country, when either party is bulldozed and browbeaten, it is usually the audience. The actor or politician or lecturer tells us where to get off, and we meekly obey.

But you'll notice that all the people who say brain work is really harder than physical labor are brain workers.

KEEP YOUR BICKERING TO YOURSELVES

Unfortunately, in many homes, there are heated arguments in the presence of children.

This is bound to lessen the respect young persons should have for their parents.

This is also true when parents allude to some of the unfavorable traits of relatives.

In the case of very young children, the relative of such facts may suggest to them that they would like to be similar to the relatives against whom the derogatory statements have been made. In older children, it may suggest that any meanness they have withing themselves is inherited. Thus they have an excuse, when they fail to control tendencies towards evils.

Parents must control themselves when angry, if they expect their children to do the same. Sometimes the disgust caused by frequent quarrel, between parents prevents the same thing occurring homes where quarrels are frequent, are quarrelsome in the homes they later establish.

Three Men Who Will Be Jeered F. D. R.'s New Deal With Labor Old Methods Seen Doomed

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer NEW YORK, April 3.-Both the American Federation of Labor and industry probably will express their dislike of decisions of that three-man labor board named to mediate in the auto labor controversy.

It looks as if the board were an-Roosevelt which scrap traditions.

At first, industry claimed a great victory in the president's "settlement". The American Federation of Labor could not negotiate for men not members. That really was a ter-more glumness prior to the end of the controversy. The A. F. of L. nissed its big chance—by failing to be progressive. President Roosevelt's choice of Dr.

board balanced the scales in favor of a New Deal in lebor setups.

Dr. Wolman, a student r 25
years of labor and industrial problems, is thought to believe that both industry and labor will have to unite in an economic fight to survive. In short, he is believed to favor the man over either a labor organization or an industrial group of barons, both trying to function in feudal style.

The Local States supreme court is human. It "keeps its ear to the ground" now more than it used to. Such is the word in Washington.

Justice Charles Evane Hughes may surprise conservative stalwarts by the liberality of his decisions. He now is counted among Leo Wolman, Columbia professor, as the liberals, headed at present (as the third member of the mediation always since President Wilson's day) by Justice Louis T. Brandeis. Other liberals are Justice Benjamin N. Cardoza, considered the most profound legal student on the supreme bench: Justice Harlan F. Stone, and Justice Owen J. Roberts. Thus five of the nine members are counted vacancy, President Roosevelt may be counted on to appoint a liberal. The vacancy soon may occur, as Justice McReynolds, a conservative, is said to be desirous of retiring.

MAKING SPECULATION "SAFE"

Some cynic the other day, referring to the present effort in con-gress to put through a drastic bill for regulating the stock prevents the same thing occurring in the latter lives of the children.

But too often, the children from homes where quarrels are frequent. markets of the country, made the remark that the government are quarrelsome in the homes they was now seeking to make "speculation safe for democracy."

Some control of our markets where securities as well as commodities are bought and sold, is of course necessary and desirable. There should be the fullest publicity required about all securities which are offered for sale, and concerning the companies who are offering the securities. Neither should speculation on thin margins be encouraged. Just how much of this regulation the government should have a hand in, and how much ought to be left to the good judgment of the stock exchanges themselves is of course a matter for honest difference of opinion.

But aside from this, the cynical remark quoted above will bear some thinking about. It will never be possible for this government or any other government to make "speculation safe for democracy." So long as there are suckers who like to buy things because they look cheap, who think they can get something for nothing, or acquire riches by taking long changes, there can cards be dealt to man in such is going to be unwise speculation.

And even the cleverest of those who deal in high finance get caught once in awhile, which makes speculation all the more a dangerous game for the novice.

The government cannot protect the plunger and the sucker against the results of their own folly, much as it may desire to do And then thought I, the deal is not as a compliment when people whom so. Something must be left to individual effort, despite all socialist theory to the contrary. The government cannot make a man a good financier, or a shrewd speculator, if nature has made him a reckless fool, any more than the government can make the lazy man prosperous, or a profligate on successful.

Too many people in the United States seem now relying on the government to pull them out of a hole which they dug for themselves. This it is impossible for the government to do, no matter what administration is in power. This paternalistic idea of government is not of American origin. It was not employed by the men who converted this continent from a wilderness into the greatest of modern nations. If the sturdy pioneers had waited for the government to protect them in their pioneer ef- near the Etang de Vaux, one of the forts and to do their trail blazing for them, the United States, if | sectors of the verdun battlefeld. it existed at all, would still comprise a fringe of settlements along cover an area of miles. If any man thinks that the government can frame a law which will enable the Federal Trade Commission or any other rifles, commission to make him a successful trader, he is in for a rude boxes of explosives and preserved awakening. Only brains and long vision can do this, backed by food. It is thought that this "sap" plenty of money and still more luck.

Even the Brain Trust has not yet found a formula for changing the lamb into a wolf. And we doubt if it ever will.

AROMATIC GRAPEFRUIT

When the American Chemical Society stages its annual get-together, prepare for fantastic predictions. Its meeting last week in St. Petersburg, Fla., was no exception.

First was gold. In a decade the seas will be turned into a cornucopia of the treasure and the resultant overproduction of the metal will make this now rather expensive product than cement for use in the Lord shall be unto thee an ever-

Just as intriguing was grapefruit. Grapefruit skins, it was predicted by a delegate from the North who had just indulged in his first glimpse of a grapefruit grove, will be turned into rare perfumes. Has the sight of a prune grove in California ever had a similar effect on a wanderer from other parts?

The new perfumes will not smell like grapefruit, according to E. K. Nelson, of the United States bureau of chemistry and soils, Washington, the predicter. Instead the odors will be those of violets, roses, hyacinths and possibly orange blossoms.

However, "will you have some grapefruit?" has not yet become obsolete as a gustatory question.

STAGGERING NUMBER OF CANDIDATES

Even with the last-minute withdrawals from several contests, there remain well over 3,000 candidates for the state primary election on May 15-far and away the greatest number ever known by Pennsylvania for

It is a staggering figures, any way one cares to view it. There must still be a depression in our midst if so many persons are seeking office. And the amazing list of candidates brings to full realization the good that might have been done by certain election bills that were proposed but not enacted during the last session.

For instance, there was the measure proposed by Senator Salus, passed in the senate but quietly killed in the house elections committee It would have required the posting of a bond from each candidate, with the amount ranging from $5 up to $1,000, for each party nomination

This bill would have accomplished the weeding-out process.

BORED AUDIENCES

American audiences, whether at theatres or elsewhere, are probably the most polite in the world. What they stand for, according to an actor who has been everywhere, is remarkable.

In Italy, when patrons are bored, they read newspapers or books till the next act comes on. In South American countries they walk out very demonstratively, in groups, so that actors can't help getting the idea. In England they razz stage people mercilessly. In Australia the you are blind you cannot read the audience counts them out like a referee at a prize fight, shouting in paper. unison "One-two-three" and so on, and when it reaches "ten" they have to go. Sometimes, too, Australians throw ducks.

In this spineless country, when either party is bulldozed and browbeaten, it is usually the audience. The actor or politician or lecturer tells us where to get off, and we meekly obey.

But you'll notice that all the people who say brain work is really harder than physical labor are brain workers.

Once Overs

YOURSELVES Unfortunately, in many homes, there are heated arguments in the presence of children. This is bound to lessen the respect young persons should have for their parents. This is also true when parents allude to some of the unfavorable traits of relatives.

In the case of very young children, the relative of such facts may suggest to them that they would like to be similar to the relatives against whom the derogatory statements have been made.

In older children, it may suggest that any meanness they have withing themselves is inherited.

Thus they have an excuse, when they fail to control tendencies

Parents must control themselves when angry, if they expect their children to do the same.

Sometimes the disgust caused by frequent quarrels between parents prevents the same thing occurring

MAKING SPECULATION "SAFE"

SOME cynic the other day, referring to the present effort in conin the latter lives of the children.

But too often, the children from gress to put through a drastic bill for regulating the stock markets of the country, made the remark that the government are quarrelsome in the homes they was now seeking to make "speculation safe for democracy."

Some control of our markets where securities as well as commodities are bought and sold, is of course necessary and desirable. There should be the fullest publicity required about all securities which are offered for sale, and concerning the companies who are offering the securities. Neither should speculation on thin margins be encouraged. Just how much of this regulation the government should have a hand in, and how much ought to be left to the good judgment of the stock exchanges themselves is of course a matter for honest difference of opinion.

But aside from this, the cynical remark quoted above will bear some thinking about. It will never be possible for this government or any other government to make "speculation safe for democracy." So long as there are suckers who like to buy things because they look cheap, who think they can get something for nothing, or acquire riches by taking long changes, there is going to be unwise speculation.

And even the eleverest of those who deal in high finance get caught once in awhile, which makes speculation all the more a dangerous game for the novice.

The government cannot protect the plunger and the sucker against the results of their own folly, much as it may desire to do And then thought I, the deal is not so. Something must be left to individual effort, despite all socialist theory to the contrary. The government cannot make a man a good financier, or a shrewd speculator, if nature has made him a reckless fool, any more than the government can make the lazy man prosperous, or a profligate on successful.

Too many people in the United States seem now relying on the government to pull them out of a hole which they dug for themselves. This it is impossible for the government to do, no matter what administration is in power. This paternalistic idea of government is not of American origin. It was not employed by the men who converted this continent from a wilderness into waited for the government to protect them in their pioneer efforts and to do their trail blazing for them, the United States, if This "sap" and its many branches it existed at all, would still comprise a fringe of settlements along the Atlantic coast. The paternalistic theory has come to us lately from Europe.

If any man thinks that the government can frame a law which will enable the Federal Trade Commission or any other commission to make him a successful trader, he is in for a rude boxes of explosives and preserved awakening. Only brains and long vision can do this, backed by led to the Flort de Verra de Ver plenty of money and still more luck.

Even the Brain Trust has not yet found a formula for changing the lamb into a wolf. And we doubt if it ever will.

AROMATIC GRAPEFRUIT

When the American Chemical Society stages its annual get-together, prepare for fantastic predictions. Its meeting last week in St. Petersburg, Fla., was no exception.

First was gold. In a decade the seas will be turned into a cornucopia of the treasure and the resultant overproduction of the metal the moon give light unto thee: but will make this now rather expensive product than coment for use in the Lord shall be unto thee an everbuilding of roads.

Just as intriguing was grapefruit. Grapefruit skins, it was pre dicted by a delegate from the North who had just indulged in his first glimpse of a grapefruit grove, will be turned into rare perfumes. Has the sight of a prune grove in California ever had a similar effect on a wanderer from other parts? The new perfumes will not small like grapefruit, according to E. K. Nelson, of the United States bureau of chemistry and soils, Washington the predicter. Instead the odors will be those of violets, roses, hyacinths and possibly orange blossoms.

However, "will you have some grapefruit?" has not yet become obsolete as a gustatory question.

STAGGERING NUMBER OF CANDIDATES

Even with the last-minute withdrawals from several contests, there in well over 3,000 candidates for the state primary to the state of the st remain well over 3,000 candidates for the state primary election on May 15-far and away the greatest number ever known by Pennsylvania for

It is a staggering figures, any way one cares to view it. There must was an offspring of a hard-boiled still be a depression in our midst if so many persons are seeking office. And the amazing list of candidates brings to full realization the good that might have been done by certain election bills that were proposed but not enacted during the last session.

For instance, there was the measure proposed by Senator Salus, passed in the senate but quietly killed in the house elections committee It would have required the posting of a bond from each candidate, with the amount ranging from $5 up to $1,000, for each party nomination

This bill would have accomplished the weeding-out process.

BORED AUDIENCES

American audiences, whether at theatres or elsewhere, are probably the most polite in the world. What they stand for, according to an actor who has been everywhere, is remarkable.

In Italy, when patrons are bored, they read newspapers or books till the next act comes on. In South American countries they walk out very demonstratively, in groups, so that actors can't help getting the idea. In England they razz stage people mercilessly. In Australia the audience counts them out like a referee at a prize fight, shouting in paper. unison "One-two-three" and so on, and when it reaches "ten" they have to go. Sometimes, too, Australians throw ducks.

In this spineless country, when either party is buildozed and browbeaten, it is usually the audience. The actor or politician or lecturer tells us where to get off, and we meekly obey.

But you'll notice that all the people who say brain work is really harder than physical labor are brain workers.

KEEP YOUR BICKERING TO YOURSELVES

Unfortunately, in many homes there are heated arguments in the presence of children. This is bound to lessen the respect young persons should have for their parents.

This is also true when parents allude to some of the unfavorable traits of relatives.

In the case of very young children, the relative of such facts may suggest to them that they would like to be similar to the relatives against whom the derogatory state-ments have been made.

In older children, it may suggest that any meanness they have withing themselves is inherited. Thus they have an excuse, when they fail to control tendencies towards evils. Parents must control themselves when angry, if they expect their children to do the same. Sometimes the disgust caused by frequent quarrel, between parents prevents the same thing occurring

Three Men Who Will Be Jeered F. D. R.'s New Deal With Labor Old Methods Seen Doomed

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer NEW YORK, April 3.-Both the American Federation of Labor and industry probably will express their of decisions of that threeman labor board named to mediate in the auto labor controversy.

It looks as if the board were another of those moves of President Roosevelt which scrap traditions. At first, industry claimed a great victory in the president's ment". The American Federation of Labor could not negotiate for men rible blow to organized labor. The A. F. of L. felt glum. It still feels glum. But there is likely to be more glumness prior to the end of the controversy. The A. F. of L.

President Roosevelt's choice of Dr. Leo Wolman, Columbia professor, as the liberals, headed at present (as the third member of the mediation always since President Wilson's day) hoard halanced the scales in favor of a New Deal in labor setups.

Dr. Wolman, a student .r 25 years of labor and industrial problems, is thought to believe that both industry and labor will have to unite in an economic fight to survive. In short, he is believed to favor the man over either a labor organiza-tion or an industrial group of barons, both trying to function in feudal style.

A. F. of L. leaders had been hoping he would resign as chairman of the NRA labor advisory board, when the president moved him up a step. Nicholas Kelly, counsel for Chrysler Motor Car corporation, representing employers, likewise is somewhat liberal. His mother was a crusader for the child labor amendment and other welfare measures. Richard Byrd, of Pontiac, Mich., named to represent labor, is a progressive—and the labor progressives would like to remake the A. F. of L.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 3.-The United States in moving ahead on the road to recovery with "irresistible force," Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, declared in his annual report, made public Monday Industrial recovery, Sloan added, might be aided or retarded by government activity, but it's general trend is superior to outside in-

Sloan dated the beginning of the business recovery to the summer of 1932, when, he said, "there ap-peared indications of improvement throughout the world, which im-provement has been well augmented during the intervening time."

Sloan declared the N. R. A. had not been in operation sufficiently long to draw definite conclusions as to its value. He warned, however, that any attempt to reconstruct the nation's industrial structure in a short space of time is a "hazardous undertaking.

The report shows that the General Motors Corporation's sales increased from $432,311,868 in in 1932 to $569,010,542 in 1933.

Has Accomplished Most, Foresters Told At Farewell

(Special To The News)
CAMP LOWELL THOMAS,
C. C. C., Trout Run, April 2.—Camp Phomas, according to figures compiled by the U.S. department of ag-riculture and announced in a talk here last week, has completed more forest work than any camp of the Civilian Conservation Corps in the United States.

That fact was made known at a banquet given to the aCmp Thomas men last week as a farewell gesture for them, Forestry Superintendent

Clark quoted the figures.

Captain Murfit of the camp also spoke on the benefits of living. After the talks the members en-Joyed boxing matches, songs and numbers rendered by the musicians in camp. On Friday evening the foresters checked in part of their equipment and completed their checking in of equipment. They departed by rail Saturday at 12:30.

The winter work has been com-pleted and with spring officially here new projects have been out-lined. The first is a ten-mile road to be built up the side of the mountain close to camp. The road will be a great ald in moving fire-fighting equipment to the top in the event blaze should break out.

CENTER CHURCH

On April 8 the usual morning and evening services will be held. The fourth chapter in the study, "This Grace Also", will be considered.

The Women's Missionary society will meet at the home of Mrs. C. G. Johnston on Thursday in the morning to quilt. The devotional meeting will be held at 2 p. m. with Mrs. William Leslie as leader.

Communion services were held on Sunday morning and were very im-pressive. Special music was given by the choir and a solo was rendered by Mrs. M. Shaffer and also one by Mrs. M. Shaner and by Rev. C. G. Johnston.

Among the special activities of the church for the Easter season were the following: Church services were held on Wednesday evening and preparatory services on Friday with the pastor, the Rev. C. G. Johnston,

Those from the society who attended the sunrise services at Mt. Hermon on Easter morning were Jennie Gibson, Kezia Wellhausen, Henry Wellhausen, William Harbi-son, Jack Shaffer and Rev. Johnston. Jennie Gibson and Rev. John-ston had a place on the program.

If you want the NEWEST and BEST in Automatic Refrigeration you MUST choose the ELECTROLUX Gas Refrigerator

When you see the new GAS Refrigerator, you'll scrap all your previous ideas of what a refrigerator should be. For here is a refrigerator that not only gives you everything that the best refrigerators of other types will give you, but in addition gives you three important features that you simply cannot hope to get in any other refrigerator on the market.

father, James Leeper.

These three features are: First, an operating cost that is far and away the lowest in the entire refrigeration field. Second, permanent silence of operation because there is nothing inside the refrigerator that can make noise, ever. Third, no moving parts to vibrate to become noisy, to wear out and to require costly repairs, adjustments or replacements. A tiny gas flame does all the work-automatically, of course.

Before you buy any refrigerator, see the new GAS Refrigerator at your dealers, or at your Gas Company's salesroom. Compare it point by point with other refrigerators. Then you'll see why, if you want the newest and best in automatic refrigeration, you MUST choose the GAS Refrigerator.

MAGIC: Freezing ice with a gas flame may seem like magic-but actually the refrigeration system in the GAS Refrigerator is extremely simple. And this simplicity accounts for its low cost, its silent and trouble-free operation, and its long life.

Permanently Silent

Because there is nothing in it that can possibly make noise, ever.

FEW WITHDRAW IN STATE PRIMARY RACE

Sixteen Remain In Governor Race

Only Two Republicans Withdraw From Gubernatorial Primary Race

DEMOCRATS ALSO HAVE BIG FIELD

By G. EVERETT DOYING International News Service Staff

Correspondent HARRISBURG, April 3.-Just six weeks from decision time, Pennsylvania's unorthodox primary campaign began in earnest today with only scattered identations on the jammed entry lists for state-wide, congressional and legislative party nom-

Voters, especially Republicans, were assured of an unprecedented array of names on their ballot May 15, from which oc select candidates for governor, lieutenant governor, United States senator, secretary of internal affairs, justice of the superior court, representatives in congress and the state legislature.

Sixteen In Governor Race. The unparalleled G. O. P. gubernatorial scramble lost only two of its original quota of 18 candidates governor. during yesterday's last day for withdrawing from the contest. Running with the 16 aspirants to succeed Gov. Gifford Pinchot are 14 of the original 17 Republican candidates for lieutenant governor, four for secretary of internal affairs, two for the superior court judgeship and five for United States senator.

In the Democratic camp, three candidates locked horns for the senatorial assignment, five were opposed for the governorship, four for lieutenant governor, three for internal affairs and four for the high

Both the Socialist and the Prohibition parties have complete statewide tickets in the field.

Two Withdraw. State Chairman Edward Martin and Edward J. Hunter, workmen's compensation board commissioner and Pinchot lieutenant, were the only withdrawals from the G. O. P. $25,000. gubernatorial primary.

Hunter made no comment with his withdrawal but it was generally understood the chief executive asked Hunter to remove his name.

Martin retrieved his hat from the ring "to better serve Pennsylvania from the ranks."

The state chairman's withdrawal came one minute before the deadline, after an all-day conference with party leaders in a last desperate effort to obtain party accord on a "harmony candidate." Martin is reported to have sought vainly thruout the day to obtain agreement for Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon, his ranking National Guard officer, buffeting the while a strong sentiment for Judge Robert E. Lamberton, Philadelphia.

Not only is the gubernatorial field

Democratic Contests.

Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh anti-Guffey Democrat, was the only state-wide withdrawal in the Democratic primary. He left a field of five to battle for the gubernatorial honor. The party goes into the primary with two solid slates, the organization team headed by Joseph F. Guffey, patronage dispenser, and the anti-Guffey independents cap- ter avenue. tained by Roland S. Morris, onetime ambassador.

Congressional scraps loom in virtually every one of the 34 districts, with Democrats crowding the field in many localities. All but two of the present Washington legislative delegation are seeking re-election, Those who dropped out were Edward L. Stokes, Philadelphia, who is in the Republican gubernatorial race, and Thomas C. Cochran from the Clarion, Elk, Forest, Mercer, Venango, Warren county district.

Re-election to the state senate did not prove quite as attractive eight day in Youngstown, O. of the 25 senators whose terms exfrom the contest. Three of the the day at Hiram, Ohio. eight, William D. Pethick, Honesdale, Henry L. Snyder, Emaus, and Scott are seeking other offices. Pethick opposes Congressman Louis T. ### New Report Of Mission Work

Superintendent B. J. Watkins of the city Rescue Mission, in his re-port covering the activities of the institution during January, February and March, shows that 6,240 meals were served to transients and 1,144 beds were offered over night ravelers in that time.

The report emphasized that the past severe winter exacted heavier demands upon the organization than many previous winters.

Other services recorded include: Ninety services in the mission: 12 Sunday school services: 68 personal calls by the superintendent to homes and hospitals: 1,212 free baths furnished: 12 mothers' sewing meetings: 14 girls sewing classes: one funeral service: 15 movings of needy families by the mission truck.

Superintendent Watkins appealed to residents to remember the mis sion with old magazines and papers as they inaugurate their spring housecleaning. The mission is supported by the Community Chest.

FEW WITHDRAW IN STATE PRIMARY RACE

Sixteen Remain In Governor Race

Only Two Republicans Withdraw From Gubernatorial Primary Race

DEMOCRATS ALSO HAVE BIG FIELD

Re G EVERETT DOVING International News Service Staff

Correspondent HARRISBURG, April 3.-Just six weeks from decision time, Pennsylvania's unorthodox pricampaign began in earnest today with only scattered identations on the jammed en-try lists for state-wide, congressional and legislative party nominations.

especially Republicans were assured of an unprecedented of names on their ballot May 15, from which to select candidates governor, lieutenant governor, United States senator, secretary of internal affairs, justice of the superior court, representatives in congress and the state legislature. Sixteen In Gevernor Race.

The unparalleled G. O. P. gubernatorial scramble lost only two of its original quota of 18 candidates during yesterday's last day for withdrawing from the contest. Running with the 16 aspirants to succeed Gov. Gifford Pinchot are 14 of the original 17 Republican candidates for lieutenant governor, four for secretary of internal affairs, two for the superior court judgeship and five for United States senator.

In the Democratic camp, three candidates locked horns for the senatorial assignment, five were opposed for the governorship, four for Ticutenant governor, three for inter-nal affairs and four for the high court bench.

Both the Socialist and the Prohibition parties have complete state-wide tickets in the field.

Two Withdraw. State Chairman Edward Martin and Edward J. Hunter, workmen's compensation board commissioner and Pinchot lieutenant, were the only withdrawals from the G. O. P.

gubernatorial primary.

Hunter made no comment with his withdrawal but it was generally understood the chief executive asked Hunter to remove his name.

Martin retrieved his hat from the ring "to better serve Pennsylvania from the ranks."

The state chairman's withdrawal came one minute before the dead-line, after an all-day conference with party leaders in a last desperate effort to obtain party accord on a "harmony candidate." Martin is reported to have sought vainly thru-out the day to obtain agreement for Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon, his ranking National Guard officer, buffeting the while a strong senti-ment for Judge Robert E. Lamberton. Philadelphia lieutenant governorship situation today remained muddled with the principal officers of both branches of the assembly—Senate President Pro Tem Harry B. Scott and Speaker Grover C. Talbot-leading a field which contains several other longtime party "regulars."

Not only is the gubernatorial field

Democratic Contests.

Charles Alvin Jones, Pittsburgh anti-Guffey Democrat, was the only state-wide withdrawal in the Democratic primary. He left a field of five to battle for the gubernatorial honor. The party goes into the pri-mary with two solid slates, the organization team headed by Joseph F. Guifey, patronage dispenser, and the anti-Guifey independents cap-tained by Roland S. Morris, onelime ambassador.

Congressional scraps loom in virtually every one of the 34 districts, with Democrats crowding the field in many localities. All but two of the present Washington legislative delegation are seeking re-election. Those who dropped out were Edward L. Stokes, Philadelphia, who is in the Republican gubernatorial race, and Thomas C. Cochran from the Clarion, Elk, Forest, Mercer, Venango, Warren county district.

Re-election to the state senate did not prove quite as attractive eight day in Youngstown, O. of the 25 senators whose terms expire either did not file or withdrew from the contest. Three of the eight, William D. Pethick, Honesdale, Henry L. Snyder, Emaus, and Scott are seeking other offices. Pethick opposes Congressman Louis T. McFadden in the Horseshoe district and Snyder is the Democratic anti-Guffey candidate for lieutenant governor.

Football Team To Train Soon

Warm Sunshine Helps To Dry Up Taggart Field,; May Start This Week

Just a few more days of warm sunshine and Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh will call out the 1934 New Castle High "Red Hurricane" foot-ball players for the initial spring workout. Taggart Field is slowly drying up under the warm sun.

It is likely that the football box will get out either Wednesday or Thursday of this week, although nothing definite has been decided

Backfield Worry

Bridenbaugh is anxious to see just what the 1934 material looks like. There are several vacant berths to be filled this year and it is going to take a lot of extra work to get a smooth working eleven under way. It is indicated that the most attention this spring will be given over to the development of backfield

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gard-ner has already booked Farrell High for a spring game at the Farrell, Pa., field on the night of May 11. New Castle will play another spring night game here on May 4 it is reported, but as yet no opponent has been named. An effort is being made to get Ambridge High here for a football game.

Jury Recommends Provision Be Made For Pedestrians On Wurtemburg Road

ELLWOOD CITY, April 3.-As a result of testimony given by a num-ber of people at a coroner's inquest into the death of John Pack of this city, the coroner's jury found that the man had died as a result of injuries received on the Ellwood-Wurtemburg road, March 25 at about 10:40 p. m. The jury stated that they believed that Pack was struck by an auto previous to being run over by a car operated by Earl Fleischer of this city, and recom-mended that Fleischer be absolved of responsibility for the death.

the injury which caused his death, could not have been done had Fleischer's car run over the body. In this case it was very probable that the whole chest would have been crushed. From his examination of the injury, which was a crushed left chest. Dr. Helling was inclined to think that it was done by a severe blow with some hard object, such as might be done by a headlight of a car. Also there was an injury to Mr. Pack's hip which could be done by being struck with a fender of a car. Dr. Helling also disspelled the possibility that Mr. Pack may have suffered a heart attack. Settlement Of Suits Brought By Mr. And Mrs. Whiteman For Son's Death

Settlement was made before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court today in the cases of Frank and Elizabeth Whiteman against John A. Weber, and the same plaintiffs against the Harmony Short Motor Transportation Company. The case grew out of a motor accident in Ellwood City in October 1932, in which Dale Whiteman, son of the plaintiffs was killed. The child was crossing the street at the time it was struck, and there was a question as to which of the defendants was responsible. Under the verdict as agreed upon Weber is to pay the plaintiffs $50 and the cost of a marker on the grave of Dale Whiteman. The Har-mony Short Line Co. is to pay Whiteman $250 and Mrs. Whiteman,

Profit Taking Continues To Dominate Market; Oil Stocks Are Strong

UTILITIES ARE UNDER PRESSURE

(International News Service) NEW YORK, April 3.—With the exception of the liquor shares the stock market was quiet today with a moderate amount of irregularity in evidence.

Profit taking continued in certain issues which had been active favorites last week.

The strength in the liquor shares again was centered on Schenley which went through to a new high on the movement about a point over yesterday's close.

The commodity markets were not of the type to stimulate the stock market to any fresh activity. Wheat and corn sold down from % to %, of and corn sold down from % to %, of a cent a bushel and cotton declined about 25 cents a bale.

Oil stocks were strong today with considerable activity in Mid Continent Petroleum, Phillips and Standard Oil of California where frontional gains were scored. fractional gains were scored.

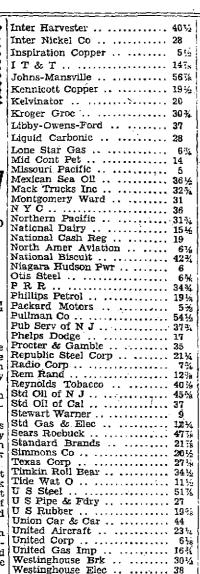

General Motors and Chrysler were sluggish and somewhat easier reflecting profit taking on stock brought in the middle of last week. Auto accessory shares moved in similar fashion.

Utilities were again under pressure with Consolidated Gas getting down to a new low on the movement. Railroad shares showed a slightly better tone under the lead of Atchison which gained about a point. United States Steel and other industrials were quiet.

the crown prince fell in love with her long ago but Princess Ingrid refused him because she loved another. Royal matchmakers once linked her name both with the Prince of Wales and his younger brother, Prince George.

Furitans and Reno

Margaret Lindsay

This cape, worn by pretty Margaret Lindsay, reminds one of the type of dress popular back in Puritan days. How a Puriton cape ties up with Reno, divorce capital of the United States, we don't know, but anyway, Margaret wears the apparel in the new movie, "Merry Wives of Reno".

UTILITIES ARE UNDER PRESSURE

NEW YORK, April 3.-With the exception of the liquor shares the Profit taking continued in certain ites last week.

The strength in the liquor shares on the movement about a point over Simmons Co ...... 201/2 yesterday's close. The commodity markets were not of the type to stimulate the stock considerable activity in Mid Continent Petroleum, Phillips and Standard Oil of California where fractional gains were scored. General Motors and Chrysler were sluggish and somewhat easier reflecting profit taking on stock brought in the middle of last week. Auto accessory shares moved in similar fashion.

Utilities were again under pressure with Consolidated Gas getting down to a new low on the movement. Railroad shares showed a slightly better tone under the lead of Atchison which gained about a point. United States Steel and other Grain: industrials were quiet.

Be Made For Pedestrians On Wurtemburg Road

ELLWOOD CITY, April 3.--As a esult of testimony given by a num-er of people at a coroner's inquest into the death of John Pack of this city, the coroner's jury found that the man had died as a result of injuries received on the Eliwood-Wurtemburg road, March 25 at whitembling road, March 25 at about 10:40 p. m. The jury stated that they believed that Pack was struck by an auto previous to being run over by a car operated by Earl Fleischer of this city, and recom-mended that Fleischer be absolved responsibility for the death.
Pack died at the Ellwood hospital bree days later from his injuries. One of the features of the inquest was a strong niea and recommendation of the coroner's jury that proper provision be made for the safety of pedestrians along the Wurtemburg road, which is narrow and has been the cause of three deaths already, besides a number of accidents.

The inquest brought out some new developments in the case. The tes-timony of John King who had witdevelopments in the case. The testimony of John King who had witnessed the accident and Fleischer's car had not run over the inert body, which was lying parallel with the road, but had straddled it instead.

Dr. M. E. Helling who had attended Pack stated that is his opinion with the interpretable page.

Settlement Of Suits Brought By Mr. And Mrs. Whiteman For Son's Death

Settlement was made before Judge R. L. Hildebrand at court today in he cases of Frank and Elizabeth Whiteman against John A. Weber, and the same plaintiffs against the Harmony Short Motor Transportstion Company. The case grew out of a motor accident in Ellwood City in October 1932, in which Whiteman, son of the plaintiffs was killed. The child was crossing the street at the time it was struck, and there was a question as to which of the defendants was responsible. Under the verdict as agreed upon Weber is to pay the plaintiffs $50 and the cost of a marker on the grave of Dale Whiteman. The Harmony Short Line Co. is to pay Whiteman $250 and Mrs. Whiteman.

Violent Outbursts Still Occur In Soft Coal Fields; Result Of Celebration

MRS. PINCHOT MAKES APPEAL FOR UNION

(International News Service) UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 3.-Violent outbursts-oral and physicaltwo men lay near death in Uniontown General hospital as a result of a tragic Mitchell's Day celebration. The comparative calm followed a tragic fete on the 36th anniversary of the eight-hour-day, In the most serious clash, which began as Mrs. Cornelia Bryce Pinchot, wife of the governor, was addressing a huge mass meeting, one man was severely beaten and two others were shot.

The third man wounded was Steve Saxon, 29, Footdale. He was shot in the left leg during the melee.

Police said the riot developed from an argument between miners as to the merits of their unions. Mrs. Pinchot, in her address, advocated unionism and asserted that she felt it was only through the union that the workers can get something done.
